myelogenous leukemia (AML) resistant to low dose VP16-213, who achieved second remission by VP16-213 in combination with daunorubicin]. Two patients with AML (M4 and M4E) resistant to VP16-213 (0.18 mg/kg/day for 5 days) and having refractory leukemic blast cells were treated with VPVP16-213 (0.12 mg/kg/day for 5 days) followed by daunorubicin (36 mg/m2/day for 3 days). At 3 and 4 days after the start of the VP16-213 treatment, both patients had approximately 20% leukemic blast cells in their bone marrows. The patients were subsequently treated with VP16-213 (0.18 mg/kg/day for 5 days) in combination with daunorubicin (36 mg
